From Dean Fraga:

Uncle Danny's family and friend Kelly (far right), celebrated his 90th birthday at the Meraki House near Dover Ohio. This distinctive destination was a former 'doomsday shelter' that was converted into a venue for gatherings of roughly 20-30 people. Saturday evening was the actual celebration and it began with a few words from Uncle

Danny about the family's journey and how important maintaining family was. This was followed by some gentle roasting by his offspring and heartfelt sentiments from his grandkids, including one by Stefan that brought everyone to tears. The grandkids used the opportunity to reconnect and as Eric pointed out, " We spent time catching up and playing games and enjoying each other's company. I know I cherish those simple moments as much as the more orchestrated ones." The evening was capped by games and a buffet of Mexican food superbly prepared by Rosa Fraga with assistance from her sister Nicole. The rest of us provided the appetites.

From Me:

My mother, sisters, my partner Tim and I went on a Viking Cruise “Christmas on the Rhine” in December. It was magical and I would highly recommend it.

While on the cruise my sisters surprised with our Au pair from when we were little kids. That was such a beautiful visit. I also met up with a friend I had met at the Summer camp I worked at in New York. The food, staff, ship, & tour guides were the best of the best. BOOK ONE, you won't be sorry!

I also am looking for some guidance on trying to keep all the emails and details straight for making these newsletters. I am not a tech person. It has been difficult to keep up and making sure I haven't missed anyone's emails. So if there is any tech cousins willing to help me with how to organize and keep it straight, that would be much appreciated.

Blessing, Kristen
